

The start of a war ended by atomic bombs

Written by Stefan Mucha

Monday, 30 September 2013 14:55 - Last Updated Monday, 30 September 2013 14:59

The start of a war ended by atomic bombs

The Times: Tuesday September 2013—In September 1939 Polish cavalry charged invading German forces. A re-enactment near Warsaw recalls their courage, but they could do little. Poland could not hold out against Nazi Germany and the USSR, and the capital fell to the Germans on September 27.

© 2013 The Times

The start of a war ended by atomic bombs

Written by Stefan Mucha

Monday, 30 September 2013 14:55 - Last Updated Monday, 30 September 2013 14:59
